The Customer Service Representative (CSR) serves as a primary point of contact for customers across Customer Service functions, delivering accurate, timely, and solution-oriented support for utility services. This role requires a high level of accountability, independent judgment, and ownership of customer interactions from inquiry through resolution. The CSR is responsible for navigating and utilizing multiple systems simultaneously to access, interpret, and update customer account information while maintaining accuracy and efficiency in a fast-paced environment.

The CSR applies strong critical thinking and problem-solving skills to assess complex customer issues, determine appropriate actions, and implement effective resolutions with minimal supervision. This includes researching discrepancies, processing transactions, coordinating service requests, and making account adjustments in accordance with established policies and procedures.

Working across various service channels, including phone, in person, and written communication, the CSR must effectively manage competing priorities, multitask without compromising quality, and maintain composure in high-pressure situations. The role requires close collaboration with internal departments such as operations, engineering, field services, and finance to ensure seamless service delivery and accurate information flow. The ideal candidate excels in a collaborative work setting and is comfortable operating within a shared environment.

Additionally, the CSR must demonstrate the ability to sustain focus and perform effectively despite typical workplace distractions, as this is a core expectation of the role. In addition to customer-facing responsibilities, the CSR performs administrative and clerical functions and may rotate across multiple service areas with minimal notice. Training requires a full-time in-office commitment from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, and may last up to 6 months.
